PUBLISHED AVERAGES OF TOBACCO PRICES

Fail To Correspond With Sworn Statements Made

Owensboro Messenger.

A rather sensational meeting of the managers of the six loose leaf houses of Owensboro, and a number of the buyers, was held in the office of R. E. Stroud, supervisor of sales, at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. It was charged that incorrect figures on the season's business have been given out for publication and used in advertisements by several of the loose leaf houses.

It developed that G. W. Robinson, of the Lancaster house, has only recently returned from Frankfort, where he secured certified copies of the reports, for December and January, made by all the loose leaf houses of Owensboro.

The law requires that a statement be made under oath each month of the amount of tobacco sold, the money paid to the growers and the general average by each loose leaf warehouse doing business in Kentucky.

Some Cleared Errors

Mr. Robinson laid the entire case before the managers of the loose leaf business and the buyers who were in attendance. It is understood that one or two of the managers, whose figures were questioned, said that if a mistake had been made in the reports given out for publication it was of a clearcut nature, and not intentional for the purpose of boosting the general average.

Supervisor of sales R. E. Stroud was instructed to check up the sales of all the loose leaf warehouses and make public his report.

Those in charge of the meeting declined to furnish the Messenger a copy of the official reports that was obtained by Mr. Robinson from the office of the commissioner of Agriculture in Frankfort. However, the official reports for the month of December and January were obtained by the Messenger's representative in Frankfort, and telephoned to Owensboro yesterday.

Official Figures.

Below will be found the official figures on the number of pounds of Pryor tobacco sold, the money paid the farmers and the general average of each loose leaf house in Owensboro for the months of December and January:

Davies house sold 3,637,690 pounds or $527,731.46 at an average of $14.51. On February 1, this house claimed its season average to be $16.08.

Owensboro house sold 8,368,530 pounds for $1,289,373.88 at an average of $15.41. On February 1, this house claimed its season average to be $16.08.

Pelid Bros. sold 1,517,700 pounds for $236,914.74 at an average of $15.31. On February 1, this house claimed its season average to be $15.31.

Electric sold 1,598,045 for $237,166.91 at an average of $14.84. On February 1, this house claimed its season average to be $15.

Lancaster sold 5,469,885 pounds for $797,858.09 at an average of $14.59. On February 1 this house claimed its season average to be $14.60.

Equity home sold 677,200 pounds for $98,757.16 at an average of $14.58. No report has been filed in Frankfort on the amount of business done by the Equity home during the month of January.

The above figures give a total of 21,299,054 pounds of Pryor tobacco sold for $3,187,802.54 at a general average of $14.96.

The figures published on February 1, which include the Equity home total, gave 22,855,185 pounds sold for $3,432,305.69 at a general average of $15.01. These totals and the general average were announced by Supervisor of Sales Stroud. The individual season house averages were furnished to the Messenger by the house managers. They showed 22,844,640 pounds sold for $3,506,266.96 at a general average at $15.34.

ON OUR HONOR HOLE.

Mr. Miles Crowder, of Horse Branch, is the latest addition to our honor roll, and it all comes about through his sending us the largest and finest twist of tobacco we have seen for many moons. Henceforth the Republican is for Miles, whether he is right or wrong. If he should steal a flock of sheep, rob a grave or run away with his neighbor's wife, no mention of it would ever appear in these columns, and if he should be electrocuted for crime we would charitably say that electricity plays some strange antics, one of which got Miles.

SOME ROAD QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED

Mr. John Logsdon, of Rosine, asks us to answer some questions in regard to the proposed road tax. Since his questions are fair ones and are, perhaps, engaging the minds of many other voters we shall make such replies as appeal to us as covering the questions in point.

He asks: "Do you think it fair for me to work the road from 16 to 50 and then have a tax of 20 cents on the hundred dollars worth of property that I have slaves so long and so hard to gather around me?"

We assume Mr. Logsdon will admit better roads are desirable and that they may not be had except by the people paying a larger road fund. If his theory is a present argument against a road tax it would be equally as effective a thousand years hence, as there would still be men left who had worked out their term on the roads. But the chief fallacy of Mr. Logsdon's argument lies in his assumption that the tax will be a contribution from which he will secure no benefit. The comfort, the economy and the convenience, of better roads makes the tax an investment and not a burden.

Mr. Logsdon asks if the fiscal court did vote its members $4 a day for looking after the roads. Members of the Fiscal court are paid $3 a day for their services in looking after road work. Under the law the Fiscal court has charge of the maintenance of the public roads and we assume no citizen would expect them to contribute their time to the public for this purpose. The Fiscal court members devote very little time to looking after road work, and the pay is in fact inadequate for the time sacrificed. If the tax is voted road work in the various districts will be put in charge of some citizen of the division, who will be required to execute bond for the faithful performance of his duties.

BICYCLE THIEF CAUGHT.

Sheriff Bratcher received a telephone call from the Chief of Police of Owensboro, Monday morning, asking him to keep a lookout for a bicycle thief who was headed this way. Thirty minutes later the sheriff had his man in tow. An officer came over from Owensboro Tuesday and took the man back to that city for trial.

The man gave his name as Alva Lindsey, his age as twenty-five and his residence as Owensboro. His own story of the possession of the bicycle is that he found it at his gate when he was starting for Simons at 2 o'clock Monday morning, that he did not know who it belonged to, and appropriated it for his trip.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Ben Harris, who was arrested at Rockport last week on a charge of robbery, and brought here had lodged in jail, had his examining trial Monday and was acquitted. However, he plead guilty to a charge of gambling and was fined $25 and costs.

The story showed that Harris and two other men were engaged in a game of poker. Harris claimed that he was drunk and that when he sobered up discovered the other parties had won twenty-five dollars of his money, and that he grabbed a pile of money lying on the ground, took out his twenty-five and threw the rest down. However, Harris appears to have gotten about five dollars more than he had lost, but the court declined to protect the loser in a poker game, and acquitted the defendant.

ARMY BILL PASSES THE LOWER HOUSE

People Win Over Bureaus In Future Military Plans

Washington, Feb. 18.—The 1920 army appropriation bill passed the House tonight by a viva voce vote. It now goes to the Senate, carrying appropriations aggregating approximately $1,070,000,000.

The legislative rider providing for a temporary army for 1920 of 28,579 officers and 509,909 enlisted men was stricken from the bill on a point of order. All other legislative riders, except the one prohibiting the use of time measure devices on government work, suffered like fate.

Riders All Fall.

First—Repeal of the Overman act so far as it relates to the Army and War Department.

Second—Continuation of coastguard corps, field, or tactical units or other organization as the president may deem necessary.

Third—Discontinuance of chevrons making distinction between soldiers who have served overseas and those kept at home.

Fourth—Promotion of officers and enlisted men recommended for promotion prior to the signing of the armistice.

The Senate bill restoring voluntary enlistments and fixing the strength of the regular army of 175,000 was adopted instead of the House provision for 500,000 for 1920. The vote was 172 to 162.

Retain War Pay.

After adoption of the amendments giving enlisted men the emergency pay of $30 a month, limiting the enlistment period to one year and eliminating the requirement that the men be placed in the reserves after the expiration of their active enlistment, the bill was passed without a dissenting vote.

The bill now goes to conference. If it is allowed to stand and no further legislation is enacted, it will mean that the peace time strength of the United States army will be based on 175,000 enlisted men of the line, with other units bringing it up to something more than 200,000, the same as it stood before this country entered the war.

DOING OUR VERY BEST BUT CAN'T PLEASE 'EM

Officers Must Be Decent.

After completion of the bill in committee of the whole and its report back to the House, Representative Fields of Kentucky, made a motion to recommit, with instructions to bring the bill back with an amendment prohibiting the use of any funds provided in the bill for the payment of the salary of any officer who issues an order designed to prevent social intercourse between officers and enlisted men when off duty. On a roll call vote the motion carried 190 to 71, and the bill was so amended.

SENATE POT BOILING.

On ship in mid-ocean the President asks the Senate not to discuss his League of Nations project until he arrived to advise them about it. But the Senate does not wait, and leaders of both parties in that body do not hesitate to confess to opinions of their own. It is clear now what the President's pet scheme is scheduled for rough sledding.

Senator Borah has set a new precedent by declining to accept an invitation to luncheon at the White House, at which the President is to lay his scheme before

members of the Senate, and Senator

Vardaman, of Mississippi, voices his opinion of the President's course in positive and vigorous language. In discussing the President and his measure in the Senate Tuesday Senator

Vardaman said:

"The proposal would carry the United States "into unexplored regions of diplomacy," and that it will test the capacity of the American people for self-government and the preservation of the American constitution." He added:

I have no sympathy with the suggestion made by the President that the discussion be postponed until he comes home. If the President had thought more of America and her institutions and less for the triumph of his personal ideas and efforts he would have said to the American people: 'Discuss this measure, vivisect, analyze it;

tear it to pieces and find out every possible defect, for it is only by the attrition of ideas and friction of suggestions that the truth—the eternal truth—will be discovered."

but when it touches station and authority it must prick its ears for a squall.

"So long as the present editor of this newspaper directs its policies the public good shall be the first concern of its utterances. We shall attack no man's private character, invade no man's domestic tranquility, nor shall we magnify trifles or be uncharitable to honest mistakes, but wherever we candidly believe the public's interest is involved the public shall have the hearing, however unpleasant the event to those personally favored. The man or woman from whom the public has a just right to expect a service shall have no just grievance against the utterances of this paper as long as that service is performed with reasonable degree of diligence. We may make mistakes, our judgement may at times be at fault, but we owe a duty to the public we serve that we shall conscientiously perform without counting the consequences.

We are not complaining at criticism. We rather invite it. Criticism is the gyroscope that keeps the world in balance. When just it destroys, as it should destroy, and when unjust it but strengthens the cause it attacks.

LIZZIE LOSES LIQUOR.

Many of life's little tragedies provoke only a smile, from the heartless multitude, but they are often serious enough to the unhappy victim. Among these smaller calamities that sometimes befall the lowly of inspiration we mention the case of Lizzie McHenry, a respectable cult'd lady, of Hart and Pennsylvania. Lizzie had been for some time in the state of Boise Penrose and brotherly love, but the homing instinct brought her to Hartford over the M. H. & E., Saturday night. Lizzie was coming home for a rest and a good time, and had brought four quarts of Bill & Hill along in her suit case. Sheriff Bratcher was at the depot on watch for those attempting to run the bootleg blockade, and nabbed Lizzie, liquor and suit case. Lizzie begged, pleaded and entreated and pursued the hard hearted officer to leave her and the liquor trade be, but all to no avail. In county court Monday morning Lizzie wept some dry-as-dust tears and, the heart of the court being moved, she was allowed to go on her own bond.

MAJOR SAM M. WILSON
DEMOCRACY'S LAST HOPE

The Lexington Herald, the most influential Democratic newspaper in Kentucky, outside of Louisville, is offering Major Samuel Wilson, of that city, but now in France, as the last hope of Democracy for a gubernatorial candidate. It appears that the Herald, like many other Kentucky Democrats, is not satisfied with the trio of candidates already announced, and clamors for a new Richmond in the field. The Herald admits that Cherry, Black and Carroll each fills part of the bill, but that Major Wilson fills all of it.

In warning the Democratic party against the breakers ahead the Herald says:

The last gubernatorial campaign, between Governor Stanley and Mr. Morrow, revealed the fact that had been previously often denied by Democrats, though apparently revealed by previous races, that Kentucky is a doubtful state. Governor Stanley was elected on the face of the returns by a scant majority of less than 500.

It was charged by many, believed by some, that the result as announced was not in accord with the votes actually cast. But even though this charge is unfounded, the margin was so narrow that the Democrats can hope assurance of victory in the coming race only by nomination of a candidate who will command the support of Democrats of all factions and a majority of the independent voters of the State.

In warning the Democratic party against the breakers ahead the Herald says:

The last gubernatorial campaign of 1915 was made more impressive by the county races of 1917. Had there been a State race in 1917 and the vote cast for county officers been cast in the State race as it was cast in the county races, there would have been a Republican majority. It was charged by many, believed by some, that the result as announced was not in accord with the votes actually cast. But even though this charge is unfounded, the margin was so narrow that the Democrats can

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Plan Silage Crops Now.

It is important at this time that consideration be given to the kind of feed crops that should be grown for the family cow as well as for the dairy herd. In order to maintain the milk production, crops must be planned to meet the requirements of the herd. Since some succulent feed is essential for economical milk production in winter, silage crop is desirable. For small herds ranging from two to six cows, succulence may be provided in the form of roots; in larger herds it may be supplied by silage.

Dairy farmers in the South must realize by experience gained during the past two winters that a silo filled with silage is a necessity. Some dairy herds have been dispersed during this period, and in most cases this can be traced to the cost of purchased feeds. A silo would have saved them. Many silos have not been filled, and still others have not been built because farmers failed to plant the necessary crops.

Good Sorghum Seed Worth While.

Corn growers, or at least a fair percentage of them, select their own seed and in many cases preserve it through the winter in the ear. Unfortunately the practice of selecting heads of sorghum for planting the next year's crop is not nearly so general as it should be among sorghum growers. The benefits to be derived from seed selection and the proper curing of the seed by hanging the selected heads up on wires in the barn loft or seed house, where they will be protected from the weather and can dry out thoroughly, are not appreciated.

If selected seed heads have been preserved in this way now is the time to thresh these heads, sack the seed, and label it carefully, so that it will be ready for planting in May. Seed kept in this way will give a more even stand and the farmer will have a personal knowledge of its purity and adaptability to his conditions. Germination tests should be preformed in every case to assure the farmer as to the amount of seed he must use to obtain the desired stand.

Don't Delay Pruning Grape Vines.

If the grapevines have not yet been pruned, be sure to do so before the buds start. On mild winter days the cut ends will "bleed" some, but that does not matter. Gather up and burn the trimmings, so as to destroy any insects and disease germs infesting them. Tie the pruned arms to the wire supports, and then this job will be out of the way before the spring rush.

Tobacco Stocks Always Big.

A remarkable feature of the tobacco manufacturing industry is the fact that the stocks of tobacco leaf carried by the dealers and manufacturers at any time of the year equal the quantity of the previous crop, no advance being made for difference of moisture content. Stocks are lowest about midwinter and highest in the spring.

More than one-half of the cotton crop of 1918 grew in Texas, Georgia and South Carolina.

Exports of oats from the United States were usually only a few million bushels yearly before the war, but in the fiscal years beginning in 1914 they have averaged about 100,000,000 bushels.

Animals on hand in the service of the War Department November 2, 1918, were 113,725 cavalry and riding horses, 186,348 draft horses, 144,611 draft mules, 17,298 pack and riding mules, and 16,280 unclassified animals, making a total of 477,262 animals ready for use.

When The "17-Year Locusts" Come

The year 1919 is likely to be one of the worst "locust years" on record. But entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture see nothing alarming in the prospect.

The periodical cicada, the real name for the insect commonly called "locust," will appear this year in the following States: Alabama, District of Columbia, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and Wisconsin.

The injury done by the periodical cicada consists almost wholly in chiseling grooves in the branches of trees for depositing eggs. This injury always appears to be greater than it actually is. Popular alarm is usually out of proportion to general damage.

Young fruit trees are sometimes killed by the cicada. The precautionary measures are: defer putting out young fruit trees until next year; postpone budding operations; do no pruning this winter or spring.

When the insects begin coming out hand pick them from young fruit trees or spray them with pyrethrum powder, kerosene emulsions, or a solution of carbolic acid or acetic acid.

Later, when the insects are ready to begin laying, spray young fruit trees with whitewash.

Where Crops Came From.

To the total crop value of the five years 1910-14, the geographic divisions contribute the following fractions: The North Atlantic States (from Maine to Pennsylvania), 11 per cent; South Atlantic, 15 per cent; North Central, east of the Mississippi River, 18 per cent; west North Central, 23 per cent; total North Central, 41 per cent; south central, 23 per cent; and far western, 10 per cent. Total for the north, 52 per cent; for the South, 38 per cent; Atlantic coast, 26 per cent; Mississippi valley, 64 per cent; Mountain States and Pacific coast, 10 per cent. Measured by value alone, the crop importance of the Atlantic coast is more than one-quarter of the total, of the Mississippi valley nearly two-thirds, and of the far west one-tenth.

The great desirability of keeping insects reduced by modern orchard practice, as fertilization, thorough cultivation, and attention to pruning and other operations, can not be emphasized too strongly and is well appreciated by most progressive and successful growers.

Iowa and Illinois produced 28 per cent of the corn crop in 1918, and these States and Indiana, Missouri, Ohio and Nebraska produced about one-half.

County Agent Helps Sell Stock.

When farmers want to buy dairy cattle they consult their county agent, who, in turn, consults county agents in dairy sections where dairy cows can be purchased. When the county agents of Wisconsin made a summary of sales they had helped to make to buyers outside of the state they found a total of 350 car loads of dairy cattle, valued at $75,000, had been shipped in 18 months since July, 1917. In Winnebago County the records showed 448 dairy cows, valued at $47,000. In Sheboygan County the records showed more than 500 head, valued at $60,000. During this period buyers from 15 states came to Wisconsin to buy stock for farmers in their respective communities.

Make Money in Lamb Sales.

Because there was a poor market for less than carload lots of lambs in Ada County, Idaho, an association was organized in August by a few members of the county farm bureau to handle them cooperatively. Forty-five sheep producers were in this organization and the first shipment consisted of 450 lambs. The price offered by the local dealers was $8 a hundredweight, but they would not handle more than a few at a time. The price received by the association was $14 a hundredweight net. This deal alone gave the farmers $2,700 more profit.

Show How To Cull Poultry.

Vermont county agents conducted 121 poultry culling demonstrations, with a total attendance of 2,655 people during the fall of 1918. The flocks culled numbered 62,262 birds being handled by the demonstrator and people in attendance. Of this number 1,081 birds, or 41 per cent, were discarded as "borderers." As a result of the campaign work 86 farmers went through their flocks, aggregating 7,454 birds, and culled 2,934, or 39.1 per cent. This result indicates the influence and immediate and definite benefits of such demonstrations.

Testing Seed Corn.

Farmers should not lose the lesson of last spring with reference to the importance of testing seed corn. Corn that to all outward appearances was sound proved to be worthless for seed. The farmer should never take a chance with seed corn, but should thoroughly test ever ear intended for seed. The sand and sawdust tray and the rag-dool testers give good results.

NEW WEAPONS OF WAR ARE INVENTED

Boston, Feb.—Secretary of War Baker warned a large audience here to-night that unless the League of Nations idea prevailed scientists would invent, for another war, weapons of destruction beyond the comprehension of those who fought in the recent world conflict.

He said he knew of an invention that was being perfected which would enable men to drop electrically controlled bombs containing 500 pounds of explosives upon unprotected cities 150 miles distant. These implements he said, would kill thousands.

Secretary Baker was a speaker at the closing meeting of the New England Congress for a League of Free Nations.

Referring to America's 90,000 dead, he declared that if they could speak they would demand their children be spared from making the sacrifice they made. He said that a League of Nations would be the world's "insurance policy" that would prevent another such conflict.

Officials of the New England Congress announced that 25,000 persons attended the meetings and conferences here.

Getting Rid Of Colds.

The easiest and quickest way to get rid of a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This preparation has been in use for many years and its value fully proven. No matter what remedy you use, however, care must be taken not to contract a second cold before you have recovered from the first one, and there is serious danger of this. A man of middle age or older should go to bed and stay in bed until fully recovered. It is better to stay in bed three days at the start than three weeks later.

SAYS SHE CAN'T SWALLOW

WANTS $30,000 DAMAGES

Owensboro, Feb. 14—Dr. A. C. Foster, a well-known physician of Owensboro, was made defendant in a $30,000 damage suit, filed this afternoon against him by Mrs. Frances Jarnigan, of Madisonville. The plaintiff alleges that Dr. Foster performed an operation on her for the purpose of removing her tonsils. As a result of the operation, it is alleged, the palate of her mouth has been injured to such an extent that her power to swallow has been destroyed. It is said that when she attempts to swallow water, it runs from her nose.

ELU STOURAGES VILLAGE GRAVE DIGGERS IMPORTED

Greenville, Ky., Feb. 14.—An epidemic of flu, in its worst type, is raging in the vicinity of Rosewood, a small village in the extreme southern part of this country. The village has a population of about fifty and has been the scene of twelve deaths within the last ten days. So prevalent is the disease in the community that it is necessary to summon men from the adjoining neighborhoods to dig the graves and bury the dead.

As a result of the campaign work 86 farmers went through their flocks, aggregating 7,454 birds, and culled 2,934, or 39.1 per cent. This result indicates the influence and immediate and definite benefits of such demonstrations.

WAR COST FIXED

Washington, Feb. 15.—Exclusive of expenditures by Belgium, Portugal, Rumania, Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria, the total cost of the European war was fixed at $179,000,000,000; an official estimate made public to-day and based on data in the hand of the Federal Reserve Board, the secretary of the treasury and the legislature of the Swiss Society of Banks. The table was compiled on estimated expenditures of last January 31.

Fiscal Court Calls

Road Tax Election

The Economy of Buying Good Tires

It's mighty poor economy to put cheap tires on your car.

If you can't depend on your tires, you can't depend on your car.

—and you can't get the high grade of service it ought to give you.

It pays to buy good tires—United States Tires.

They represent the highest value it is possible to build into tires.

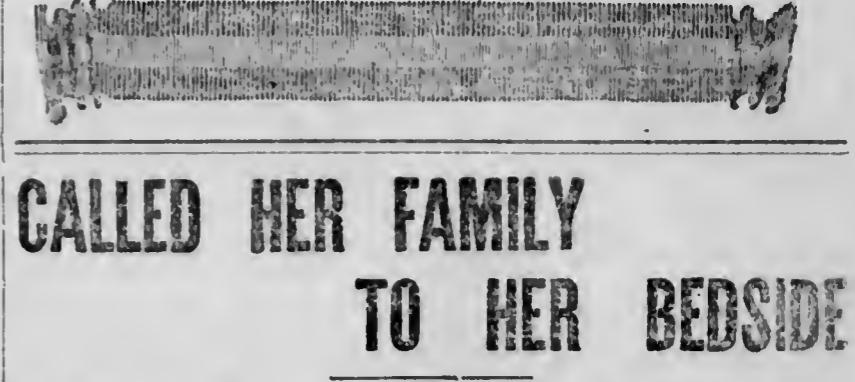

. There are five different passenger car treads—the only complete line built by any tire manufacturer.

Each has the built-in strength that means your money back in extra miles.

Among them are exactly the tires you want for your car, and your driving conditions.

Our nearest Sales and Service Depot Dealer will gladly help you.

FRIDAY ..... FEBRUARY 21

Remember if the road tax is voted it will be spent to make the roads by your door.

Governor Stanley has exercised a large measure of charity in forgiving
the enemies of society.

Reports from various sections of the county indicate that the road tax will carry by a good majority. This is an era of progress and old methods
of road working are going to the junk heap.

The President is hurrying home
from Europe to tell the country about the Society of Nations, but he will find the people more interested to know what, if anything, he has done toward bringing about a present
peace of nations.

Safe and enforceable laws against all types of immorality, should be enacted, and citizens and officials should rigidly enforce them, but the final and lasting remedy for immorality
is in the teaching at the hearthstone, in the schools and from the sanctuary.

The German people are launching a movement on a large scale to try to prevent the Allies bringing the ex-Kaiser to trial. After he has offered up millions of his citizens on the alter of his mad ambition to dominate the earth Germany ought to try to save his precious old neck.

While President Wilson was stirring the old world with pretty theories of a Society of Nations to prevent future wars American mothers of soldier boys now in Europe think it would have been better for Mr. Wilson to have labored toward peace terms to end the present war.

The perpetual deferring of the terms of circuit court is working a serious hardship upon those maintaining state wards. The law requires that an inquest be held in circuit court annually in these cases and unless such inquiry is had the Auditor will not pay such claims. Unfortunately an inquest is not retroactive and persons keeping such wards are losing even the small pittance the state allows for such purpose.

In a screen masterpiece we saw recently this sentence sermon that should find lodgment in every human mind: "No passion of the human heart promises so much and pays so little as revenge." Revenge is the most seductive of the weaker passions of the soul. It raises a false hope of avengement that never must invariably disappoint. Forgiveness is the nobler of the virtues of men and it is noble because it elevates and makes grander the soul that forgives.

Preston Daugherty, of the Arnold country, is a recent and enthusiastic convert to the road tax. Mr. Daugherty started to Owensboro with two four horse loads of tobacco. After crossing the Daviess county line he discovered Daviess county roads in such excellent condition that he sent four horses and two drivers back home, and completed the trip with single teams. He saved $20 dollars in expenses because of the better roads of our neighbor county.

Announcement comes from Lexington that the Woman's Christian Temperance League is to start a campaign against tobacco. With national prohibition now assured your professional prohibitionist starts out to find other worlds to conquer. Nothing short of sanctifying the earth, and that of their own peculiar brand of sanctity, will satisfy these dear souls.
When they grow strong in numbers and triumphs, these petticoated saints

will, if by a miracle they should agree among themselves, decide what church we must all belong to. Intelligence knows no limit but despotism.

We hope to see the citizens of Hartford
do the square thing by their country friends road tax election day.
This tax is being voted to build roads
in the remote, as well as the central parts of the county. It is to carry good roads to the doors of the people.
Our country friends have contributed a large share of the money to build pikes and good roads radiating from Hartford, and now it would be ingratitude, unpardonable ingratitude, for us to vote against a measure that is aimed chiefly for the immediate benefit of those who have contributed so largely to building
roads in the vicinity of the county seat. Let us give our country friends
a square deal.

To lift or not lift the ban. Aye, there's the rub. The flu ban was very popular when the epidemic first made its appearance, but it seems to be falling into disrepute. Nobody seems to know whether, in the manner it is handled, it is worth while.
We all seem to be in regard to the flu trouble very much like good old Brother Evans, of Arnold, was in regard to the Wheelers, a farmer's organization, very popular in the county thirty years ago. A lodge had been organized in Brother Evans'
school house, and at the second meeting they were all very much at sea
as to how to proceed. Brother Evans had been elected chaplain, and when called upon to open the meeting with prayer, was very much at loss just what to pray for. After some general petitions he closed by saying "O, Lord, we confess we don't know much about this business and we don't know that Thou dost."

After the long night of high cost of living the light is breaking. The intimate consumer is as yet getting little relief, but there is a drop at the top, and it must sooner or later reach downward. The jobber and retailer are stocked with high priced goods and are trying to make the best of it by staving off the inevitable as long as possible, but lower prices are on the way. With ships released from carrying war cargoes Europe is turning to the accumulated stores of more distant countries where prices are lower. Free and cheap ocean freights will now equalize prices.
The Literary Digest shows, in an exhaustive article, that enormous stores of food and other products,
having no longer a monopoly of Europe's markets, are competing for home distribution in anxious hurry to unload. Prices will not soon depend to the pre-war level, but at least a substantial reduction is assured.

There is a notable passing of the old time personal journalism; the kind that Greely, Dana, Halstead, McCullough, Grady and Watterson, gave us, in which we came to know the
virtues and the faults of the writer,
and to admire or criticize him, as his
work met our approval or criticism.
The city daily has become too much a
commercial institution and the country weekly too much the local advertising sheet. We are led to these reflections upon reading Mrs.
Grinnell's society column in the Leitchfield Gazette. Mrs. Grinnell
touches upon every subject, from the
propriety of the president's visit to Europe to the description of the lay-
ette of Leitchfield's prettiest baby.
We know few people in Leitchfield or
in Grayson county, but there is such
an easy, frank, breezy personal charm
about her manner of writing that we never miss reading her weekly personal column. Nothing else makes up for the lack of individuality in the
newspaper writer.

virtues and the faults of the writer,
and to admire or criticize him, as his
work met our approval or criticism.
The city daily has become too much a
commercial institution and the
country weekly too much the local advertising sheet. We are led to
these reflections upon reading Mrs.
Grinnell's society column in the Leitchfield Gazette. Mrs. Grinnell
touches upon every subject, from the
propriety of the president's visit to Europe to the description of the lay-
ette of Leitchfield's prettiest baby.
We know few people in Leitchfield or
in Grayson county, but there is such
an easy, frank, breezy personal charm
about her manner of writing that we
never miss reading her weekly personal column. Nothing else makes
up for the lack of individuality in the
newspaper writer.

LYMAN HARRIETT WRITES*TO RELATIVES HERE

Chaumont, France,
Jan. 26, 1919.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Foreman,
Hartford, Ky.

Dear Uncle and Aunt:—I have been intending to write to you for a long time, but a fellow does not have all the conveniences here that you have in Kentucky.

After reaching this country, I spent three months in central France, and then our division moved up to the Tonni sector, reaching there just a few days before the armistice was signed. Had the war lasted a week longer, we would have been in the trenches.

Just before my division left for Le Mans to await transportation to the United States, I was transferred to General Headquarters to do clerical work, and may be in France several more months. Although I was never under fire, I was near enough to see the flashes of the bursting shells and hear the constant rumble of the guns.

Uncle Will, I know, you can realize better than other people that army life in a foreign land is not the most pleasant thing in the world; even though you are miles behind the lines. I would not take any thing for the experience, and am very glad to have done my part, but since the war is over I can hardly wait for the time when I am once again a civilian in "Old Kentucky." I have visited the battle ground of the St. Mihiel front and have seen many other places of special interest from a historical standpoint, but have not yet had the opportunity of visiting Paris. Under the recent order making passes more easy to secure, I am hoping to spend a few days there.

Chaumont, the city in which Pershing's headquarters are located, has a population of about 15,000 and like most other French cities, has narrow, crooked streets, stone buildings, dirty alleys, a few up-to-date stores, many little shops that sell souvenirs, cafes and wine shops on every corner. It also has a Hotel de Ville (city hall), a large cathedral, two or three large schools and a glove factory known all over the world.

The river Marne passes near this city, and very often I take a morning walk out there before going to the office. France has an elaborate canal system and one of these canals runs almost parallel to the Marne here. Just below the city the canal crosses the river and goes through a long tunnel under a hill. You would be interested to see the ragged little burros pulling such heavily laden boats.

I saw Marshall Petain, in the name of France, pin the medal of the Legion of Honor on 23 American officers recently. General Pershing and the leading officers of the American and French armies were present. This was my first view of our Commander-in-chief.

I hope you escaped the "flu." Although there were a great many cases here, it is not so prevalent as in the states. I have just received a letter from Ruth dated December 29, said she was just recovering from an attack of this malady. She writes almost every day, but I very often do not receive mail for weeks. Of course then I get several letters at once. Am very glad she recovered so quickly. I am certainly glad mother and sisters escaped without taking it.

Six months ago I was just about the middle of the Atlantic ocean. I suppose in the nine months since I entered the army, there have been a great many changes in old Ohio country, but then maybe I can soon catch up.

Today is Sunday, and I am thinking of taking a walk out into the country this afternoon. During the past five months there have been very few days that we did not have some rain, but the past few days have been dry and the mud has disappeared again.

Are the boys at Camp Taylor discharged yet?

Give my best regards to every one.
Sincerely yours,
PVT. L. G. HARRIETT,
State Div., G. H. Q.,
A. E. F., France.

E. B. Clark was arrested at Norton Saturday on a warrant for failing to work the road, and brought here and lodged in jail. Clark paid his fine Tuesday and was released. The occasion of his arrest was due to the fact of being drunk and disorderly, and disturbing the tranquility of the Norton community, Saturday afternoon.

Rev. J. S. Chandler died at his home at Bowling Green Wednesday of last week. His death was due to advanced age. He was 88 years old. Rev. Chandler was at one time pastor of the Hartford circuit of the M. E. Church, and was well known and much loved in Ohio county. He was the father of Mrs. Charlie Crowe, of Hartford.

Justice Miller, was brought to Hartford Wednesday and lodged in jail, pending a blemish inquiry. Mr. Miller is an excellent citizen, but seems to have brooded over religious matters until his mind is unbalanced. The family became afraid he would do himself or somebody else bodily harm, and had him locked up until a formal inquest can be held.

There was a very sad death in Mr. Lon Bennett's family here Saturday. It was of an old and faithful servant, who for thirty seven years had never failed in faithfulness when called upon for service and had never uttered a word of protest under the most exacting task. It was only the old family mule, but Mr. Bennett greeted its going and gave it a decent burial.

Mrs. Olevia Mudd, a Graduate Nurse, of Louisville, who came here to attend Mrs. C. E. Smith, who had pneumonia, and later attended John Ross Taylor, following an operation on the young man, for appendicitis, returned home yesterday. Mrs. Mudd possesses the happy combination of professional efficiency and personal loveliness, and made many friends while here. Mrs. Mudd is a daughter of Mr. Charlie Wimbatt, of Sunnyside, and was reared in Ohio county.

All teachers except those in cities of the first, second, third and fourth classes will be required to take an examination in agriculture before qualifying to teach this fall. Superintendent Howard has received from the State Agricultural College a small text book, a careful study of which will fit the applicant for examination. These books will be furnished the teachers, without cost, when called for. A list of questions is also furnished that gives the applicant a clear idea of what to expect on examination.

Mr. Ed. Cundiff, Jim Cundiff, Nat Laddies, Will R. Cook, Harry L. Cundiff, Evelyn B. Cundiff have received a $500.00 each as a result of registered 1000 bushel seedling oats, from Hopkinsville. In the lot are two bushels, one of which weighs 2,200 pounds, and the remainder are cow-hair oats. The entrepreneur farms a large ranch credit for buying this lot of oats, breeding stock into the country, and County Farm Agent B. Cundiff is entitled to much credit for interesting the farmers in the purchase of this stock.

FOR SALE.

7 or 8 thousand hard brick, 1500 soft brick and a lot of good hard bats. ELLIS ICE CO.
332. Hartford, Ky.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION.
At a meeting of the stockholders of the Hough River Land & Improvement Co., Fordsville, Ky., held January 30th 1919, all of the stock being represented, it was unanimously voted that the said corporation should be terminated according to law and notice of such is hereby given.

she was just recovering from an attack of this malady. She writes almost every day, but I very often do not receive mail for weeks. Of course then I get several letters at once. Am very glad she recovered so quickly. I am certainly glad mother and sisters escaped without taking it.

Six months ago I was just about the middle of the Atlantic ocean. I suppose in the nine months since I entered the army, there have been a great many changes in old Ohio country, but then maybe I can soon catch up.

Today is Sunday, and I am thinking of taking a walk out into the country this afternoon. During the past five months there have been very few days that we did not have some rain, but the past few days have been dry and the mud has disappeared again.

Are the boys at Camp Taylor discharged yet?

Give my best regards to every one.
Sincerely yours,
PVT. L. G. HARRIETT,

E. B. Clark was arrested at Norton Saturday on a warrant for failing to work the road, and brought here and lodged in jail. Clark paid his fine Tuesday and was released. The occasion of his arrest was due to the fact of being drunk and disorderly, and disturbing the tranquility of the Norton community, Saturday afternoon.

Rev. J. S. Chandler died at his home at Bowling Green Wednesday of last week. His death was due to advanced age. He was 88 years old. Rev. Chandler was at one time pastor of the Hartford circuit of the M. E. Church, and was well known and much loved in Ohio county. He was the father of Mrs. Charlie Crowe, of Hartford.

Justice Miller, was brought to Hartford Wednesday and lodged in jail, pending a blemish inquiry. Mr. Miller is an excellent citizen, but seems to have brooded over religious matters until his mind is unbalanced. The family became afraid he would do himself or somebody else bodily harm, and had him locked up until a formal inquest can be held.

There was a very sad death in Mr. Lon Bennett's family here Saturday. It was of an old and faithful servant, who for thirty seven years had never failed in faithfulness when called upon for service and had never uttered a word of protest under the most exacting task. It was only the old family mule, but Mr. Bennett greeted its going and gave it a decent burial.

Mrs. Olevia Mudd, a Graduate Nurse, of Louisville, who came here to attend Mrs. C. E. Smith, who had pneumonia, and later attended John Ross Taylor, following an operation on the young man, for appendicitis, returned home yesterday. Mrs. Mudd possesses the happy combination of professional efficiency and personal loveliness, and made many friends while here. Mrs. Mudd is a daughter of Mr. Charlie Wimbatt, of Sunnyside, and was reared in Ohio county.
